THE FOUNDATION.

The William Angliss Institute Foundation provides educational opportunities and financial assistance to support students in achieving their career ambitions. The Foundation was established in recognition of the pioneering work in the areas of hospitality and foods by the late Sir William Charles Angliss.

Through a scholarship fund built on the generous support of our many friends and industry partners, the Foundation provides ongoing assistance to students and the wider community through the establishment of various scholarship programs across the Institute.

WHY APPLY?

Scholarships are one-off payments that provide help with things like buying new uniforms, tools, equipment and living expenses. Scholarships help to ease financial pressure, so you can focus on your studies and career ambitions.

"It's such an honour to have my love and passion for the industry acknowledged in such a generous way and I'm so excited to develop my skills and knowledge so that I can give back to the industry."

APPLICATION

APPLICATION FORMS.

There are three application forms. You can apply through one or more, depending on your circumstances.

MERIT

Merit scholarships are available for applicants who wish to be recognised for their academic achievements and leadership within the Institute and across the community.

If you're interested in applying for a scholarship awarded through merit, keep an eye out for the yellow!

EQUITY

Equity scholarships are available for applicants who have experienced, or are experiencing, financial and/or educational disadvantage.

If you're interested in applying for a scholarship awarded through equity, keep an eye out for the green!

ABORIGINAL AND/OR TORRES STRAIT ISLANDER

This category is available for applicants who identify as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander.

If you identify as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander, keep an eye out for the maroon!

Each category has its own form and application requirements! You can apply for a scholarship through multiple categories.

APPLYING THROUGH MERIT.

At the William Angliss Institute, we define merit as:

Demonstrate academic excellence via results achieved during previous and current studies.

REQUIREMENTS

To apply for merit, you require the following documents:

- An updated resumé (see pp. 15)
- Two letters of support (pp.8-10):
 - One letter from an academic contact
 - One letter from an external source
- Academic Transcript (see p. 17)

STATEMENTS

To apply for merit, you are required to write four statements, no more than 200 words each.

You'll be asked to answer the following:

- Why have you chosen to undertake your course of study, and what are your longterm career goals?
- Discuss your academic performance and achievements in your studies.
- Provide an example of when you have demonstrated leadership skills in your studies and professional life.
- How do you intend to use the scholarship funds?

Use your statements to set yourself apart from the other applicants. See p. 17 for more tips on writing your applicant statements!

LETTERS OF SUPPORT.

You require two supporting letters for your scholarship application.

These letters must be current and official:

- Include letterhead where possible
- Contact details of your referee (name, signature, contact number and/or email)

ACADEMIC

This support letter should come from a contact within an educational setting. Most applicants ask a staff member at the Institute.

This letter should demonstrate your willingness to learn and engagement within the classroom.

EXTERNAL

This letter should come from a contact that can demonstrate your community involvement and/or leadership achievements.

Most applicants choose to ask their employer, but you can also attain a letter from a community worker, counselor, church leader, doctor, etc.

See pp. 9-10 for an example of what your academic/external reference can comment on.

TIP: Make your letter stand-out! Try not to follow the example too closely.

Include letterhead (if possible), email and/or phone number.

Dear Scholarship Committee,

I am delighted to recommend John Saunders for the merit scholarship. As a lecturer at William Angliss Institute, I have known John since 2014 and taught him in subjects such as Food and Beverage Knowledge and Resort and Hotel Operations. Throughout this time, John has consistently demonstrated academic excellence, a remarkable commitment to personal growth, and a profound dedication to his chosen field of tourism and hospitality.

Academic Excellence

John has distinguished himself academically, achieving high distinction grades in challenging subjects. His self-motivation and hard work are evident in his superior academic performance, punctuality, and timely completion of assessments. John's ability to grasp complex concepts and contribute thoughtfully to class discussions has significantly enhanced the learning experience for his peers and me. His analytical and creative thinking skills are commendable, making him a standout student in my classes.

Leadership and Teamwork

In addition to his academic abilities, John has proven himself a natural leader and a valuable team member. He has an innate ability to respect and value diverse opinions, fostering an environment of empathy and collaboration. John's leadership skills were particularly evident in high-demand situations where he facilitated group activities and managed interactions professionally and tactfully. His interpersonal skills have contributed to his success in academic settings and promise to be invaluable in his future endeavours.

Personal Qualities

John's personal qualities are a testament to his potential for future success. His maturity, dedication, and positive outlook have set a high standard for his peers. Furthermore, John's excellent communication skills, both written and verbal, enable him to articulate complex ideas clearly and persuasively. His insatiable curiosity and desire to learn have driven him to explore various areas beyond his immediate field of study, demonstrating his ability to think critically and adapt to new challenges.

Commitment to the Field of Tourism and Hospitality

John's keen interest and dedication to the tourism and hospitality industry are evident in his academic choices and extracurricular pursuits. His ability to integrate knowledge from various sources and apply it to real-world situations suggests that he will benefit immensely from this scholarship and contribute significantly to the field. I am confident that John's passion and academic and personal qualities will make him a tremendous asset to the industry.

In conclusion, I strongly endorse John Saunders for the merit scholarship. His academic achievements, leadership abilities, personal qualities, and commitment to his field make him an exemplary candidate. I do not doubt that John will continue to excel and significantly contribute to his field of study and beyond.

Should you require any further information, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

Include name, title and signature here

APPLYING THROUGH EQUITY.

At the William Angliss Institute, we define equity as:

Demonstrate financial and/or education disadvantage.

CRITERIA

To apply for equity, you must fit under one, or more, of the following categories:

- Experience, or have experienced financial hardship (see p. 12)
- Are from, or are intending to move from, a rural or regional area (see p. 13)
- Have disability, long-term medical illness or mental health condition (see p. 13)
- Experience difficult circumstances (see p. 13)

REQUIREMENTS

Your application requirements are dependent on the equity criteria that you are applying through.

Regardless of the criteria that you're applying through, you still require an Academic Transcript (p. 17) and resumé. (p. 15)

STATEMENTS

To apply for merit, you are required to write four statements, no more than 200 words each.

You'll be asked to answer the following:

- Why have you chosen to undertake your course of study, and what are your longterm career goals?
- Discuss your academic performance and achievements in your studies.
- How do you intend to use the scholarship funds?

You should use your statements to set yourself apart from the other applicants. See p. 17 for more tips on writing your applicant statements!

CRITERIA.

FINANCIAL HARDSHIP

If you are experiencing financial hardship then you can apply for equity through this criterion.

We understand that financial hardship can impact international and domestic students differently, so there are different application requirements for both international and domestic students.

DOMESTIC STUDENTS

General Financial Hardship:

If you are a domestic student and you are experiencing financial hardship, then you can apply through 'General Financial Hardship'.

To apply for this, you must:

- Select your current living situation (living independently; supported by parents/spouse; other)
- Provide a copy of your ATO income statement for the most recent financial year
- Write a statement that details your current financial and living circumstances including how they are affecting your study

Centrelink Benefits:

If you are also receiving Centrelink benefits, then you can include this in your application. To include this, you must:

- Outline which benefit you are currently receiving
- Provide supporting documentation to prove that you are receiving this benefit

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

If you are an international student and experiencing financial hardship, then you must provide the following:

- One to three of your most recent payslips
- A copy of your bank statement
- Any additional supporting documentation
- Write a statement that details your current financial and living circumstances including how they are affecting your study

FROM A RURAL, REGIONAL, OR INTERSTATE AREA

If you are from, or intending to move from, a rural, regional or interstate address, then you can apply for equity through this category. Although there is no remoteness requirement, the Committee will consider the 2021 ASGS remoteness of your address.

If you have moved within the last two years. To apply for this, you must:

- Provide evidence of your current address
- Provide evidence your previous address
- Outline when you moved

If you are planning to move. To apply for this, you must:

- Provide evidence of your current address that demonstrates that you are from a rural, regional, or interstate area

EXPERIENCE DIFFICULT CIRCUMSTANCES

Sometimes, difficult circumstances don't fit into neat categories. If something you are facing is having a negative impact on your education and you wish for it to be considered as part of your scholarship application, you can provide a document as evidence.

To apply for this category, you must:

- Write a statement that describes your circumstances
- Provide one to two supporting documents

DISABILITY, LONG-TERM MEDICAL OR MENTAL HEALTH CONDITION

If you have a disability, long-term medical or mental health condition that impacts your ability to study, then you can apply through this category.

To apply for this, you must:

- Outline which disability, medical illness or mental health condition(s) you are living with
- Write a statement detailing how your condition affect your ability to participate in your course
- Provide a current detailed letter from a local medical health provider, or evidence disability payments

SOME SPECIFICS.

CENTRELINK DOCUMENTS

Centrelink documents must include:

- Your name
- Date
- Address
- Date of birth

You can include a Centrelink income statement or card. Use whichever Centrelink proof you believe will best reflect your circumstances.

RURAL OR REGIONAL LIVING

If you've already moved within the last two years, you must provide proof of previous address (e.g. a copy of a utility bill, or a rental agreement demonstrating when you moved in).

If you're planning to move, you must provide evidence of current address (e.g. a copy of a recent utility bill, or a rental agreement).

BANK STATEMENTS

If you are an international student applying through financial hardship, then you must provide a bank statement. Only the front page is requirement. Screenshots are not accepted.

RESUMÉ.

Your resumé can make or break your scholarship application! Ensure that you can provide an up-to-date and professional-looking resume with your application that can effectively demonstrate your work experience to date.

A professional-looking resumé is a marketing tool that job seekers use to communicate their value to employers. It should clearly outline your experience, qualifications and achievements.

A resume is effective if the recruiter/ employer chooses you over the other candidates (at least for an interview).

Our careers counselor can help you with your resumé! If you have any doubts about your resumé, or what to include in it, it is strongly recommended that you reach out to our careers counselor.

Email: careers@angliss.edu.au

ABORIGINAL AND/OR TORRES STRAIT ISLANDER.

If you identify as an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander, you can apply for a scholarship through this category.

REQUIREMENTS

To apply for an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander scholarship, you require the following:

- Academic Transcript (see p. 17)
- EITHER:
 - Proof of Aboriginality; OR
 - Letter of support from Koorie Liaison Officer

STATEMENTS

To apply for merit, you are required to write three statements, no more than 200 words each.

You'll be asked to answer the following:

- Why have you chosen to undertake your course of study, and what are your longterm career goals?
- Discuss your academic performance and achievements in your studies.
- How do you intend to use the scholarship funds?

Reach out to the Institute's Koorie Liaison Office for more information regarding application requirements and support throughout the application process.

Email: koorie.liaison@angliss.edu.au

ACADEMIC TRANSCRIPT.

Your academic transcript is your record of study at William Angliss Institute. You are required to provide your academic transcript for both merit and equity applications.

You can attain your unofficial transcript from your E-Student or our Information Centre.

If you have recently started studying at the Institute, and your final results are yet to be released, then you can collate evidence of your current results.

Academic transcripts from the Institute are preferred if they're available; however, if you are yet to start your studies at William Angliss Institute, then you can provide your academic results from another educational setting instead (e.g. school report, previous academic transcript etc.).

If you are a current student, you can download your current results from eStudent via MyWAI.

Email: information@angliss.edu.au
Ground Floor, Building A

WRITING YOUR STATEMENT.

Your applicant statements are your opportunity to explain your situation to the committee assessing your application. The panel assessing your application wants to get to know you and get an idea of who you are.

You should consider the following when writing your statements:

- What sets you apart from your peers?
- What are your goals? What path are your studies taking you on?
- Why do you need or deserve the scholarship?
- Why you?

While your statements should indicate that you have invested time and effort into your application, each statement should not exceed 200 words.

Your written statements are your only opportunity to 'speak' to the Scholarship Selection Committee. Make sure that you are presenting yourself the best you can!

Our Learning Advisors can help you review your statements!

Email: Learningadvisors@angliss.edu.au

STANDARD OF EVIDENCE.

Your documentation provided should reasonably 'prove' your situation.

Any document you provide should be current. This means that it should be dated within the last three months. The only exception to this is rural/regional documentation, which can be dated within the last two years (see p.13).

Here are some general rules to ensure that your documentation is reliable and verifiable:

- It should be written by someone in a position of authority (not yourself or a family member/friend) who is qualified to comment on your circumstances, i.e. teacher, lawyer/accountant/health care provider
- Preferably as specific as possible
- Dated
- Either on official letterhead or containing an original signature
- All documentation must be written in English

CHECKLIST.

I'm applying for merit:

- Resumé
- Academic letter of support
- External letter of support
- Academic transcript

I'm applying for equity:

- Academic transcript
- Resumé

Financial Hardship (International student):

- 1-3 of most recent payslips
- Copy of bank statement
- Any additional supporting documentation (if relevant)

Financial Hardship (Domestic student):

- ATO income statement
- Evidence of Centrelink benefit (if relevant)

Rural, Regional or Interstate:
